TWO NEW BOOKS BY HARVARD MEN

By Paul Revere Frothingham '86

A CONFUSION OF TONGUES

A series of essay-sermons dealing with various aspects of life as affected by the great war. Dr. Frothingham says: "The war itself will come to an end in time, but not so the thoughts that have been aroused, the burdens that have been incurred, the sadness that has been experienced, the doubts that have been awakened." $1.25 net.

By Waldo E. Forbes '02

CYCLES OF PERSONAL BELIEF

"Cycles of Personal Belief" follows the course of individual experience in passing from a state of innocent belief through the upheaval wrought by personal doubts to a condition of renewed belief and a new hold upon the essential verities of life. $1.25 net.

The Psychology of Religion

By GEORGE ALBERT COE

Professor of Religious Education, Union Theological Seminary

For the Minister's Library
For the Theological Seminary Student
For College and Seminary Classes
For the Psychologist and Educator
For Young People's and Adult Bible Classes

After having been announced for several years, this book for which the public has been waiting is now issued. The idealism of the author has set a standard both of time and of energy in the study of this subject which puts him easily in advance of all other contributors to the field. Primarily a handbook for the psychological study of religion, the volume also gives attention to problems, standpoints, other authors, types of investigation and kinds of data. It analyzes religious phenomena from the point of view of both the structural and the functional methods. With a list of authors arranged in alphabetical order and containing more than three hundred titles, and with topical lists, it presents extensive apparatus for the use of special students of the subject.

Of nineteen chapters, the first four are devoted to aspects of psychological study and investigation. The remaining fifteen present the author's keen analysis of religion in its individual and social processes.

RECREATION AND THE CHURCH

By HERBERT W. GATES

*Director of Religious Education, the Brick Church
Institute, Rochester, New York*

Play, games, and sports are the open doors to the real boy and girl, and they furnish the best opportunities for moral and religious training. This book serves as a guide for all interested in the welfare of children.

“We know a community where there are boys who do not wish to be ‘helped,’ and who cannot easily be drawn into the church. This book should meet the needs of just such a community.”

A discussion of concrete principles and methods of religious education.

THE RELIGIONS OF THE WORLD

By GEORGE A. BARTON

Ready July 15

Professor Barton's book fills a long-felt need in the field of comparative religion for a collection of facts which are suitable for the general reader. The book deals with the origin, history, and principal teachings of all the great religions. The author points out those characteristics of Christianity which make it destined to be the universal religion, and the result of the study should be a greater respect for all religions with a supreme allegiance to Christianity.
